PERSONAL ASSESSMENTS TOOLS

There are three (3) personal assessments utilized in this program: The purpose of each assessment, along with specific deadlines for completion of each assessment are explained below

OPM 360 Assessment – A “360” is an assessment tool that allows you to better understand how you perceive yourself and your leadership competencies in the workplace, and to compare your self-perceptions with those around you. In other words, it is a survey that is completed by you, your supervisor, as well as peers and direct reports selected by you. This results in a 360 degree perspective of you, with your own perceptions in the “center of the circle”. The 360 assessment process will be fully explained to you during the Orientation Webinar (see above timeline), and the survey will be open to use immediately following. The 360 will close for inputs one week before you start in the classroom (see above timeline). A summary of the results for your cadre will then be covered at the 360 Feedback Webinar (see above timeline). This session is presented by OPM at the cohort level. After the session, you will receive your individual results. This then becomes a potential learning tool for use during your coaching sessions (explained below).

Myers-Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) - The Myers Briggs Step II Type Indicator (MBTI – Step II) is an expanded version of the more common Myers-Briggs assessment with which most people are familiar. The MBTI is an assessment tool focused on understanding your “personality preferences” as characterized by the assessment tool. There are sixteen (16) personality types in the MBTI world and none of them are better, worse, right or wrong. The whole point of the assessment is to appreciate the diversity of perspectives expressed through our personality preferences. It is best to take your time with this assessment and answer the questions in a relaxed mindset.

We will be using this tool during the first week of the program in October, so please complete the MBTI assessment prior to one week before the start of the classroom portion of the program (see above timeline). Please follow steps one through four below:

1. Either click on the link below, or copy and paste it into your browser;
2. Register if you have not already done so;
3. Fill out the brief demographics form, and;
4. Complete the assessment in one sitting.

Emotional Intelligence Assessment, EQ-i 2.0 – Emotional Intelligence provides us with the capacity to notice and manage our self-perception, self-expression, stress levels, decision-making and interpersonal relationships. There is a tremendous body of research indicating a direct link between one’s emotional intelligence development and leadership effectiveness. Between the first and second week of the program, therefore, you will complete an on-line emotional intelligence assessment, which will be reviewed and discussed during our second week together. The link for completing the assessment, along with additional information regarding the assessment, will be emailed to you after your first week is completed.

COACHING

Each participant in the MLP will be assigned a professionally trained coach, with whom you will be working throughout the program. All MLP coaches are USFS employees that have gone through a coach training program. They are all at senior levels of the agency, and many have gone through the USFS Senior Leader Program. You and your coach will be meeting for six (6) one-hour sessions before, during, and after the classroom portion of the program. Your Coach will contact you prior to the start of your time in the classroom (see above timeline). You will also be receiving an email from Diane Wheeler (dmwheeler@fs.fed.us), 505-944-4060, shortly, with a link for a video on coaching that you will need to watch prior to the start of the residential (classroom) portion of the program.

Coach

As a key part of the program, you will be afforded a professionally trained coach, with whom you will work throughout the program. All MLP coaches are trained FS employees who have volunteered their time to help in your growth and development.

What is the role of a Coach? A Coach is an individual focused on helping the Client, MLP Participant, succeed. The Coach believes that the Client has the best answers for him/herself. Coaches guide a Client through the thinking process. In this manner, the Client identifies barriers and solutions that fit his/her style, needs, talents, etc. The Coach always strives for full objectivity while tapping into the Client's mind for the experiences and wisdom that have been built over time. A Coach will ask many questions and provide few direct answers. The Coach maintains a posture of curious questioning to allow the Client to think through issues and achieve a satisfactory, confidence-building solution.

Coaching

The International Coach Federation adheres to a form of Coaching that honors the Client as the expert in his/her life and work, believes that every Client is creative, resourceful, and whole. Standing on this foundation, the Coach's responsibility is to:

- Discover, clarify, and align with what the Client wants to achieve.
- Encourage Client self-discovery.
- Elicit Client-generated solutions and strategies.
- Hold the Client responsible and accountable.

“Through the process of Coaching, Clients deepen their learning, improve their performance, and enhance their quality of life. In each meeting, the Client chooses the focus of conversation, while the Coach listens and contributes observations and questions. This interaction creates clarity and moves the Client into action. Coaching accelerates the Client's progress by providing greater focus and awareness of choice. Coaching concentrates on where Clients are now and what they are willing to do to get where they want to be in the future.”

INDIVIDUAL LEARNING PLANS

During the MLP, each participant will receive feedback and valuable personal insight provided through the 360, MBTI Step II, and emotional maturity assessments. As a means of focusing your personal and professional growth, and in conjunction with the insights you will gain through these instruments, each participant will be required to complete at least one Learning Plan. Learning Plans can address an identified strength so that you can become even more proficient with that competency. You may also identify a competency area in need of further development. This may be in a competency area that is critical to Forest Service leadership expectations and one for which you received 360 feedback indicating a need for improvement. Leveraging the information you gain through the 360, MBTI (Myers-Briggs), and Emotional Intelligence discussions, along with your classroom learning will help you identify how to develop your Learning Plan.

All MLP Coaches will be briefed on LPs, so they can potentially work with you on your LP development during/after the program. A sample LP form will be included in your MLP materials on the first day of class, and you will learn more about LPs on the second day of class, when we have a “lead coach” presenting on the topic of coaching. Finally, a very good source to understand at least one version of an LP is: “Development First: Strategies for Self Development, found in books 24/7 in Ag Learn. This is just one example of an ILP. There are many others from which you may choose if you decide to develop an LP.

PROGRAM LOGISTICS

Lodging

We have established a sleeping room block for all three weeks in the UC Davis Hyatt Place Hotel (173 Old Davis Rd, Davis, CA 95616). Please book your room within the established room block by using the following links from the hotel for each of the three weeks:

Week One – "USFC Middle Leader Program" 01.27.19 - 02.01.19

Week Two - "USFC Middle Leader Program" 03.03.19 - 03.08.19

Week Three - "USFC Middle Leader Program" 04.14.19 - 04.19.19

This will guarantee you a room at the prevailing government rate. I would strongly recommend just booking all your rooms in one sitting. The cutoff dates for these room blocks can sneak up on you...

Please also let me, Mike Wood (mike@highridgeleadership.com), know if you will NOT be staying at the Hyatt Place for any reason as soon as possible, so we can reduce the room block accordingly.
